Student Affairs Dance Is Friday

Football Team Will Receive Send-Off Today at Five P. M.

BUS LEAVES AT ONCE FOR SACRAMENTO FOR AGGIE GAME

This afternoon at five-fifteen, the San Jose State Student Body, headed by Yell-Leader Howard Burns will assemble in the quad to hold a gigantic send-off for the football team.

Sharply at five-thirty the football team will leave by bus for Sacramento to play their final conference game with the Cal Aggies. As the game will be played on Friday, a school day, very few of the students will be able to make the trip; so, by attending the rally, the student body can show that they are behind the team.

Head-liners of the rally will be short talks from Coaches Dud De Groot and Bill Hubbard, and Captain Hubbard.

We aren't promising anything, but if an orchestra can be arranged for, there will be some dancing for a short while. If you can possibly be there, come with plenty of pep as it is our last conference game.

Men's Gym Floor Receives New Finish; Prevents Players Slipping

Further reason for controversy concerning dances in the men's gymnasium will be out of order here after the new finish recently applied solves the skidding problem protested by the physical education department.

After each dance given by the student affairs committee the athletic department has protested that the floor has been so slippery for days after that it is exceedingly dangerous.

The floor has been sanded and a special filler applied. The lines were painted and two coats of special lacquer finish, which will produce a non-skid floor. It will be possible to spread spangles to produce a slippery dance floor and with a preparation, it can be taken off without the slightest damage being done.

When the floor was originally put in, the job was never done correctly. The finish was of the wrong type for the gymnasium, which is used for many purposes. The state authorized a wax finish which becomes slick when polished. This problem has been solved, however, and bigger and better dances are in line.

Dual Leads Will Feature Cast of Xmas Play, "Smilin' Through"

The cast for "Smilin' Through" has been chosen, and the play has gone into rehearsal. As a whole it is significant of the change that has taken place in the plan of dramatic production since only two of the cast were former members of Players.

"Smilin' Through" will be presented on the Thursday and Friday evenings before Christmas vacation as the annual Christmas play that is open to the general public as a sort of contribution by the College to the cheer of the Christmas season.

The cast is as follows: John Carteret, Maurice Travis; Dr. Owen, Wallace Murray; Kathleen, Dorothy Vierra and Mary Liles; Moonyoon, Dorothy Vierra and Mary Liles; Ellen, Virginia Maddox; Kenneth Wayne, Sherman McFedrias.

Education Department Calls Meeting on Friday

On Friday, November 18th, the following students will meet in the Little Theatre at 12 (noon) to receive their tentative assignment for elementary or kindergarten primary student teaching for winter quarter. Make a note of the number of the group in which your name appears.

Failure to attend the meeting will forfeit your assignment. Students who are working should arrange to attend.

Group I

Novel Decorations, Plus Good Music to Feature New Idea

FAMOUS AND THOSE NOT SO FAMOUS WILL BE IN ATTENDANCE

Tomorrow night is the big night! Are you going to be there? If you haven't got your bid yet, it is doubtful. There are at present only 43 bids left. Think of it, a student body semi-formal dance, Paul Cox's Carolina Chorus. Soft music, soft lights, and a perfect floor. Don't miss the off-campus dance is the password of the student body.

And who's going to be there? Dr. MacQuarrie, Dean Goddard, Erwin Blesh, Monroe Ledyard, Leon Warmke, Jim Fitzgerald, Junior Wilson, Frank Hamilton, Grace Murray, Dorothy Vierra, Gail Baldwin, Grace Osmer, Hope Thomas and Bill Towner.

Decorations are different! The punch will not taste like diluted water. We'll be celebrating a victory over our long dead rivals, California Aggies. Everything is set for a perfect time, but the majority of the student body will not be there. Why? Because they didn't want bids, not because they didn't want to go; because they, like the foolish virgins, were too late. They did not get their bids on time.

Don't be sorry; do it now. Get your bid in the quad.

Joe West Is Elected Vice President by State Registrars

Registrar Joe E. West of San Jose State College was yesterday elected vice president of the Pacific Coast Association of College Registrars, which is now holding its convention in Los Angeles.

West is a graduate of New Mexico State College and Stanford University and has been at the local college for the last four years.

Other officers elected are as follows: Bertha Brainard, Theron Clarke, Kenneth Kerans, Karl Cowdry, and Florence Brady.

All those who are to have their pictures in this year's La Torre are urged to make their appointments in the La Torre office as soon as possible. Office hours are from 10 to 12, and 1 to 3 daily. Those students graduating in December are especially asked to make their appointments early to avoid the last minute cossession, and as there are about 600 pictures to be taken and only appointments for 15, someone will be left out.

Arthur Kelley Addresses League of Industrial Democracy

Discussing the amendments, stressing No. 9, and the Mooney demonstration and its beneficial effect, Professor Arthur Kelley was the speaker at the meeting of the League of Industrial Democracy Monday noon in room 1 of the Home-Making building.

Membership in the organization may be obtained by paying $1.00 dues, which entitles the purchaser to monthly copies of the "Revolt," and pamphlets by such writers as Stuart Chase, Norman Thomas, Henry W. Laidler, and Paul Blanchard. Thurman Frick organized the L. I. D. at San Jose State, and at present there are seven paid memberships. Both faculty and students may belong, and fifteen members are needed before a charter will be granted. Anyone desiring to join the organization should see Frick.

Mrs. Rideout Is Speaker at Philosophy Seminar

"Heaven lies around us in our infancy," said Wordsworth and Mrs. Rideout, and Goethe went on, "Every child has a chance for genius."

"No," ventured Mrs. Rideout, "I wouldn't say 'every child.' I would say 'almost every child.' The present educational system, according to the guest speaker at the Philosophy dinner held at the Y. W. C. A. Monday night, holds children in bondage for so many years, that when they are at last free they no longer know what liberty is, nor desire it."

"What is the function of our modern universities?" asked Mrs. Rideout. It is simply, as it seems to be, to turn out experts in highly specialized lines? Should it not be to enrich the lives of the students by giving them a broad cultural background? Should we waste our young years by tying ourselves to technicalities of one craft and never learning the modes of self-expression? Should we not be taught to travel in the realm of history, of past cultures?

Mrs. Rideout, in her charming, informal style, gave her rapt listeners suggestions for starting a child toward a well-rounded, enjoyable education. You can't keep children from learning interesting things, if those things are within their reach, she asserts. "Mine is a philosophy of defeat," was her confession, "I expect the worst, so I am delighted when nice things do happen."

Cenacle Monus To Present Program at Newman Hall

DR. NEWBY IS MASTER OF CEREMONIES AT FRENCH
CLUB PROGRAM

This evening at the Newman Club a delightful program and entertainment is being sponsored by the French Club, "Cenacle Monus" for the French students of the school.

The most outstanding event of the evening will be the delightful skits and burlesques that individual classes are producing. Many of these numbers are original, having been written and directed by members of the various classes.

Dr. L. C. Newby, head of the department, will show pictures of France and will accompany them by one of his most delightful talks. Games and entertainment of the evening are under the direction of Alice Echante, and mince pie and cider for those present promises to add a touch of autumn to the affair.

Debate Club Is Organized With New Charter by Mr. Eckert

Last Monday evening under the direction of Ralph Eckert, a San Jose State debate club was organized, having as its charter members the speakers who participated in the political symposiums held throughout the valley and the members of the women's debate team.

The purpose of this group is to sponsor the Student Forum, to present to that group topics for discussion, to arrange for inter-class and inter-school debates. Membership to the organization is obtained by participation in an inter-scholastic debate. There will be a great opportunity for students of the college to participate in such events as a fine schedule for the coming quarter is already being arranged.

Officers were elected last Monday evening to fill out the remainder of the quarter. They are as follows: President, Wilbur Hogevoil; vice president, Tom Needham; secretary, Katherine Hodges.

Tickets for the men's banquet will go off sale Friday at 1 o'clock.

These are on sale at the Controller's and Information offices.

TOWER OF BABBLE

Elections being over, there is no further necessity for straddling the fence, so we can come out and say what we think (if we think). Assuming the critical attitude becoming to all philosophers, we nominate for oblivion the following:

One—Cassanova, for the main and simple reason that in this age of skepticism, the simple souls of the type that write the letters appearing in his column no longer exist.

Two—Thurman Frick. Elections and political propaganda having become a thing of the past, his earnest endeavors and voluble services may be laid aside for another four years.

Three—The ribbons of the typewriters in the Times Office.

Four—Philosophical football games. Those which start at nothing and end at nothing.

Five—Psychology Department field trips to Agnew. The doctors of this noble institution unanimously agree that the State Students are a bad influence on the patients. The Muckraker displayed profound wisdom by remaining at home during the last trip. We commend him for it.

Six—Arturo Roseburg for mentioning his own name in his own column. Out of seven items in his last column, two deal with his nibs. Good batting average I call it.

Seven—Campaign signs posted about two weeks after elections are all over.

Eight—The proof reader for the Times, who, so far as I have been able to ascertain, must be asleep in the deep.

And now for a resume of the events of the last half hour, merely to show under what strained conditions the above column has been written. Neil Thomas suddenly dashed into the office and belittled unceremoniously, "Be ready to get everything valuable out of here, the Co-Op's on fire." After looking about, the only thing I could find of value, was Dick Sander's tie. (I even entertain doubts about that.)

And as a parting word in reference to last week's column: I meant S. B. and not B. S.; and tattooed and not two toed as our printers seem to think.

Help Upset the Spartans

Is there a football game on Friday afternoon?

From the spirit on the campus one would doubt the fact a great deal. One would surely never realize that it is a game upon which hangs San Jose's chances for the championship.

We knew Nevada was coming, and worked up enough spirit to let them know that we weren't unprepared, and as a result the team got out and fought and tied the game.

The "Cal" Aggies will have as good a chance to get out and show us that we have been kidding ourselves all along that we have had a football team. They will if we don't show the team that we are behind its members.

The time and place for the fracas is against San Jose State's chances of having a very large rooting section at the game, but we can show this wonder team of ours that we still have confidence in it.

Even if we can't get to Sacramento to yell for the fellows we can get out in front of the school when the team leaves and yell until we can't yell anymore.

It naturally would be better to get out to see the game, but if we can't it is our duty to do our share towards getting that Far Western Conference title.

Maybe I'm Right

Once in a while the faculty need a little publicity. Just to keep us from forgetting all about them, here are a few rumors:

1. Dr. Freeland told one of his education classes that he was more intelligent than Robert Browning (?)

2. Mr. Robinson is a socialist and an ex-minister.

3. No other person than Dr. MacQuarrie is one of the sources from which the Muckraker gets his material.

After reading some of the names in the S. J. State Directory—

If one could get them all together at a party, Mr. Ice, Miss Lemons, and the Misses Rye ought to be pretty good mixers.

I wonder if Mr. Wildhofer's dancing lives up to his name, and do Mr. Gorostorday and Miss Duckgeischel know each other?

And how about giving the well known leather medal to Mr. Joy van Zyl de Jong?

To My Binder
Exes would be easier,
Grades a little kinder,
If I were as full of notes
As my dear, grey binder.

Between Dances
(Overheard in the dressing room)
"He's the original blind date.
No girl who can see would go out with him."

"Mary's got a bad case of athletic heart—always hanging around the football team."

The Style Calendar

High lights in the style world which are so interesting to the campus co-ed, are many and varying for this week.

Soft angora wool still remains the last word in material for dresses, sweaters and skirts. It is tremendously smart in the new gray, either alone or with brown trim. Notice the next time you go "window wishing" at the display of gray and brown dresses.

For afternoon wear the crinkled satin alone or combined with the sheers of woolen material is quite lovely. With a dress of this type, cream suede gloves and accessories, would tip the outfit off beautifully.

And speaking of accessories—as the vogue for high necklines are so pronounced, scarfs have become increasingly important. All wool, all silk, silk and wool combinations, and knitted scarfs are leading in the scarf displays. One type of scarf being featured is called the "Fish Tail" scarf. It is very smartly tailored, fashioned in blistered crepe with striking color combinations. As for gloves—fabrics are especially good for sport and informal wear. For formal wear we have a change from the stiff, formal, long kid gloves, by the new softly crushed, elbow length, velvet glove.

Buttons, which started off with a decided flourish at the beginning of the season, are still very smart. Fancy metal fasteners, as well as the buttons, appear very frequently on the smart co-ed's attire.

Sincerely,

Theme and Variations

It is rumored that State's symphony orchestra is going to run loose and give concerts in this part of California. Several high schools and such are to be highly entertained. These barn-storming activities will not take place until next quarter, however.

During the Chico-San Jose State game (if you can remember that far back), Glenn Matthews, oboist, paraded out with the band, and, as usual, he carried his oboe reed in his mouth. At sometime during the process of marching on the field something direful must have happened to Glenn. He marched back . . . but the reed wasn't in his mouth. Neither was it where it belonged—on the oboe. Some humane person in the stand maintained that he swallowed it (the reed, not the oboe). But he looked healthy, if not exactly smiling. . . . Who knows? . . .

I wonder—as a matter of general statistics—how many people have noticed, and speculated upon the dents in our drum-major's baton?

Our prize this week goes to Jesse Stirling, violinist, who committed four violin pieces to memory the night before she had to play them!

Not to be outdone by Phi Mu Alpha, Tau Mu Delta is planning an interchange of concerts with other sister music societies. These concerts will probably benefit the school; the participants themselves, and create a deeper and friendly spirit among musically-interested colleges on the Pacific Coast. . . . Who said I couldn't write editorials?

Alumni Association Will Hold Board Meeting

The Alumni Association for Santa Clara County will meet at the Hotel Sainte Claire, Tuesday, November 22, at 6:30 p. m. Bob Rhodes, former student body president, is the head of the organization.

Coach Dud DeGroot and Leon Warmke will be the speakers, and the music and speech department will furnish the entertainment. The dinner will be $1.00 a plate.

Sign noticed on the windshield of an old Model "T"—"Anybody But Hoover." Well, nothing like being frank. Speaking of Hoover, I'll be glad when the election is over, and a person can go to peace without being asked every so often who he is for. And these speeches over the radio! Seems as if each party were out to throw as much mud at the other one as possible. Oh well, I guess that's human nature.

Have you ever watched the people in the San Jose Creamery getting lunch. You can usually tell by looking at the individual what he or she will take. The ones never fail to take a substantial dripping with chocolate sauce and whipped cream. The thin ones usually take butterless or some other non-fattening thing.

I wonder why it is that the train ride between San Jose and Palo Alto seems so short at night and so long in the morning. Perhaps it is due to the fact that one can't see out at night, and hence can't tell where he is till he arrives at his destination. While I am on the subject of trains, might add that I wish—and I am not the only one—that the motive engineers wouldn't start with such a jerk. In all the (Continued on Page Three)

Speedball Tourney Sign-up Extended Until November 23

CLASSES URGED TO ENTER
AS MANY TEAMS
AS POSSIBLE

Coach Charles Walker urges that men sign up in their respective classes for the speedball tournament to start after Thanksgiving.

Contrary to previous reports, it will be possible to sign up for this event up to Wednesday noon, November 23. This change is due to a soccer game being played on the San Carlos turf Monday afternoon, November 21. The first speedball game was scheduled for that time, but has been postponed to start a week from that date. The games will be played on Monday and Wednesday afternoons.

Every student in the school is eligible to compete and a large turnout is expected to participate in the second intra-mural class event.

Each class may enter as many teams as they wish. The more teams they enter, the better chance they stand in the process of elimination which will be determined by the play-offs. It takes 15 men to make a squad. Twenty-nine players may constitute two squads, but less than the latter amount will make up but one team.

We thank Mr. Frank Brayton of the Modesto "Collegian" for the following choice bits of information:

Material Uncovered on Frosh Squad Gives Promise of Good Varsity in '33

With the Salinas J. C. calling off the final game, originally scheduled for Friday, the Babes of Sparta have closed the current Frosh football season with a fairly impressive record, especially from the first down and yardage side of the ledger. Assisted by Hal DeFraga, George McLachlan, Dud Shaw, and Manager Martin Sword, Erwin Blesh has succeeded in putting San Jose Frosh football on the map, and with a better schedule to work on, the future for yearling gridgers has been practically assured.

Three wins and two losses. In bare-faced type that does not look too good, but an analysis of the Frosh games shows that the Babes have a team that nearly rivals that representing the Varsity.

Starting off the season on the Los Gatos High gridiron, the local Frosh literally romped to a one-sided victory over the football team, 40-0. The Wildcats offered no opposition to the Babes, who won as they pleased.

Next came the Pacific game. Piling up 200 yards to Pacific's mere 58 and 18 first downs to the Cubs' lonely 2, San Jose tore up and down the middle of the field, finally cashing in on one touchdown, the final score being 7-0.

Next on the list came the Stanford Frosh B aggregation, the game being played in the Stanford Stadium. Again State came out on the long end, the scoreboard showing 6-0 for Blesh's team.

With three straight wins under their belt, the Frosh proceeded to tangle with the first year team of Fresno in a night game at the Raisin City. Perhaps a little socky, perhaps it was the lights, or maybe there were no "perhaps"—anyway, after holding a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, the Spartan defense went sky-high, resulting in a 20-6 win for the Fresno team.

After an enforced lay-off, due to inability to get opposition, the final game of the season was played with the Armstrong J. C. outfit on the local gridiron as a preliminary to the Nevada game. Again the Frosh made yards and yards, 10 first downs to 5 for the Berkeley team, and yet the final score was Armstrong 2, San Jose 0, when a San Jose kick was blocked behind the goal line.

Probably the fellow deserving first mention for his work this year is Captain Bert Watson. Doing some of the kicking, part of the passing, calling signals, and packing the ball most of the time, Watson played great football until handicapped by a charleyhorse during the latter part of the season. Ralph Bernardo did some sparkling work while Watson was on the shelf and rates along with the captain. Kellogg and Gregory added a good many yards from the fullback position, although Gregory was suffering from injuries part of the season.

Hildebrand did some nice line plunging and backed up the line in fine shape. Valin, Don Bernardo, Bowser, and "Hard-Luck" Bryan all saw action, and Blesh praises them for their good work.

The center of the line, composed of Lompa, Meyers, and McAllister, played a brand of ball equal to any Frosh team in this section. Meyers gave the varsity more than one bad afternoon in scrimmage. Vic Lompa was one of the fastest guards seen around here, and along with McAllister made a formidable pair of guards. At tackles, Biddle and Jennings played regularly. Biddle, commonly known as "Play-boy", had the requisites of a wonder, but didn't seem to get up the spark until the Armstrong contest, when he continually broke through the J. C. line. Jennings was also injured part of the season, but turned in some nice performances. Schuh, Bianco, and Margalotti all got into the fray during the season in the line.

At ends, Phipers, Glover, Hickman, and Giambruno were the first four ranking men, the first two starting most of the games. Phipers was probably the best end on defense, while Glover was a star on the offense, especially on the receiving end of passes. Giambruno showed up well in varsity scrimmage, while Hickman was out part of the season with a nose injury, but played nice ball while he was in there.

The team of '33 should be proud of their record, the best of any Frosh team in the history of San Jose State. Too much credit cannot be given to Coach Blesh and his assistants for the fine work they have done this year. For the first time, a Frosh team will receive a reward for their services. A numeral will be given to each man who has played in sixty per cent of the games.

San Jose State has been proud of you, Frosh.

Spartan Spasms

By Murdock and Bishop

We've called 'em all tough, and a lot of people will probably get off a good old equine laugh when we repeat that phrase in regards to the California Aggies. However, we've got our reasons and here they are:

1. A big, fast charging line which very few teams have penetrated to any great extent this year in spite of lickings the Davis lads have taken.

2. The fact that the Aggies are pointing for San Jose. They haven't done any too well this season, but, if they can knock the Spartans off the peak to which they have risen in the span of one short season and deprive them of their chances for the Conference title, all the heart-breaking defeats will be forgotten.

3. Coach Dud DeGroot has been forced to work his charges up to a fighting, emotional pitch for three battles this season, namely the Pacific, Fresno, and Nevada struggles. Can the Spartans again rise to the heights which have brought them thus far along the path to the Conference championship? A let-down in the face of a determined Aggie team is not beyond the realm of possibility for the natural tendency seems to be to take "Crip" Toomey's boys too lightly.

Here are some reasons to support these statements:

Joe Fiack, captain of the 1931 team and All-Conference tackle. He is the outstanding man in the Aggie line, standing six feet tall and tipping the scales at 190 pounds.

Bob Frazer, guard. Won his letter last year. Stood out when we saw the Aggies play California.

Bill Page, another veteran guard. He's light but effective.

Phil Ellithorpe, 219 pound tackle Fresno, with two years of experience behind him. In addition to his regular duties he often drops into the backfield and boots them far and wide.

Louis De Martini—170 pounds of dynamite from Tony Donadio's home town, Lodi. Place kicked the field goal that beat Fresno. A real threat.

Milton Tavernetti—A Salinas boy who's speed and fire make him second only to Sweet as an open field threat.

Maitland Wolfe—A triple threat package who weighs but 140 pounds and stands but 5 feet 6 in

Sweet, Aggie Star, Has Been Bothered By Slight Injuries

FARMERS' COACH IS FORMER CALIFORNIA "WONDER TEAM" BACK

When the Aggies tangle with the Spartans in the Sacramento Stadium, Friday afternoon, the San Jose team will immediately have their hands full of one who sell Sweet, who is undoubtedly the spark-plug of Crip Toomey's defense.

Sweet was a freshman last year at the Davis Farm. Toomey found him at Huntington Park, where he had played the bench for several years, having very little experience. He turned out to be the most important man on the team last year and is making a remarkable record for himself this season.

That "Crip" Toomey did not use Sweet against Stanford last Saturday is sure evidence that he is being saved and groomed for the Spartans. He has the fastest start and quickest change of pace that Toomey has ever seen. He is a deadly tackler, good blocker, and is able to pass and kick with a fine degree of accuracy. A man of this type is dangerous on any man's team—what is more, he is very worth while watching.

Through the Aggie line, there will not be many gains. They have one of the best lines in the conference. Stanford had a hard time outplaying them between the tackles. However, they are weak at end and sweeping plays work like a charm. The Aggie team will be ready for the Spartans and the latter will have no picnic.

his stocking feet. He hails from Santa Cruz, the home of two Spartan stars, Dieu and Simons.

AND

Number 20! Captain Russ Sweet. The sensation of the Conference last year who has been retarded by injuries this season, and who was held out of the Stanford game to make sure that he would be ready for the Spartans. What a threat this lad! He's a threat anywhere on the field!
